DEUTSCHLAND REACHES HER HOME PORT

MORE THAN MILLION IS TAKEN FROM TREASURY OF STATE IN ONE YEAR

"BOB" UNCOVERS TRUE SITUATION AT NEW LISBON

Reads from Records to Show That Treasury Will Be Empty Before Taxes Are Paid

SPENT MORE THAN SAVING

Administration Has Spent $1,080,000 to Show a Saving of Only $84,000

NEW LISBON, Wis., Aug. 24.—Assuming receipts and disbursements will be the same this year as last year for the same period of time, the treasury of the state will be entirely empty of cash long before November 1, when the railroad taxes are to be paid, declared Senator Robert M. La Follette in a speech here this afternoon. The governor, he said, claimed he had saved $841,627 of the tax levy. But to do so the senator charged that the Phillip administration had depleted the state treasury in one year $1,080,000. He based his statements on recent letters, which he read to the audience from Secretary of State John S. Donald and State Treasurer Henry Johnson.

"What does it profit a man if he gain $841,000 if he suffers the loss of $1,080,000?" asked Senator La Follette.

The Governor's Plea

"I have before me the governor's campaign document entitled, 'Message to the people,' claimed by him to be 'Facts from the records.' On pages 7 and 8 he gives the tax levies for 1914 and 1915, showing that the levy for the last year of Mr. McGovern's administration was $5,272,363 and the levy for the first year of Phillip's administration was $4,450,736," declared Senator La Follette. "The levy for 1915 under the present administration was $5,415,227 less than under the McGovern administration. This, the governor calls a saving of $841,626. Upon this he bases his whole contention of reduced taxes. This is the whole saving according to his 'Facts from the records.'"

"Last fall I made the statement, backed by official figures that there would be no saving during the Phillip administration. I said then that the present administration would rob the working balance in the state treasury for operating expenses of enough to more than offset any saving in the tax levy. My estimates were frantically denied."

"Now, I have before me an official statement from John S. Donald, secretary of state, showing the condition of the state treasury August 19, 1915, and August 19, 1916. I will read it in full."

SHE IS FIRST WOMAN EVER TO SAIL OVER NIAGARA IN AIRSHIP

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Miss Norma Mack, daughter of Democratic National Committeeman Norman E. Mack, is the first woman to sail over Niagara Falls in an airship. At noon Thursday the aeroplane dipped gracefully over the brink of the falls, glided over the prow of the rushing cataract and then spiraled to the height of a mile.

"I wasn't frightened one bit," laughed Miss Mack as she slipped the helmet and goggles off and hurried to her parents, who watched the flight from their motor car. "I am going to take up a course now," she chattered on, not knowing that she was the first woman in America to have flirted with death over the falls.

HENRY A. SALZER LAID AT REST WITH SIMPLE SERVICES

Friends from Many States Gather to Pay Last Respects to Well-known Businessman

CHURCH BOARD GUARD

Body Is Carried to the Grave by Brothers and Brothers-in-law of Seedsman

Friends gathered from many places in the middle and northwestern states, bound to Henry A. Salzer by his multitude of business and church affiliations, attended simple services at the beautiful new Salzer home on Seventh and King streets this afternoon, before the body of the well-known businessman was carried to the family resting place in Oak Grove cemetery. Not fifty persons, including the family, were present at the services for the victim of Tuesday's fatal automobile accident.

This morning, however, hundreds of Mr. Salzer's La Crosse friends, who had known and respected him, paid their last respects. Friends were permitted to view the body from 11 until 1 o'clock. The funeral services began at two. A profusion of flowers attested the regard in which Mr. Salzer was held by all who enjoyed his friendship.

Mr. Salzer's brothers and his brother-in-law were the active pallbearers. Prominent business men from La Crosse, Milwaukee, Chicago and Minneapolis were included among the honorary pallbearers, who were William Tscharnner of Minneapolis, a life-long friend and business associate of the seedsman, and president of a bank in which he had large interests, Alfred James, P. T. Schulze and George W. Burton of La Crosse, William F. Smith of Chicago and C. E. Miller of Milwaukee.

Rev. John H. Klaus, pastor of the First German Methodist church, officiated at the services, assisted by Rev. E. C. Dixon of the First Methodist church, Rev. J. E. Watson of the West Avenue Methodist church, and Rev. J. H. Benson of the Caledonia Street Methodist church. Mr. Salzer was a leading member of the First German church, and president of the church board.

The members of the church board formed a guard of honor for the body. They included Carl E. Schaefer, W. G. Haebig, E. J. Bernett, H. Volenweider, Carl Mueller, Theodore Mueller, William Thiel, Charles Weis, William Pfafflin, O. W. Munster, G. F. Sexauer and William Schwartz.

Mrs. Henry Hallauer, Springfield, Mo., and Mrs. E. C. Lee, Toledo, Ohio, sisters of Mr. Salzer, arrived to attend the funeral.

MAN ARRESTED IN SALEM HAS BURGLAR TOOLS AND WEAPON

Police Search Records for Corroboration of Surmise He Is a Bad Man

Police are digging into the records to uncover some corroboration for their surmise that Charles Ritter, 50, arrested at West Salem Wednesday, is a "good man." Ritter was arrested for disorderly conduct, but when a search revealed a number of skeleton keys, blank and paraphernalia for making keys, the West Salem village marshal sent for a La Crosse officer to take charge.

Ritter, it was said at central station today, had been hanging about West Salem for several days. In his possession were five razors, some of them valuable, which the police believe were recently dug up from some underground hiding place. They base this belief on spots of rust and mold on the blades and cases. Ritter also had a quantity of cheap jewelry.

GREEK KEY CITY DRAWS SPIRITED BULGAR ATTACK

Ancient City of Seres, 43 Miles Northeast of Salonika, in Grave Danger of Capture

CRUCIAL POINT IN ATHENS

Fall of City Would Cut Off the Greek Forces Operating in Eastern Macedonia; Allies Claim Bulgars Repulsed

LONDON, Aug. 24.—The ancient Greek city of Seres, 43 miles northeast of Salonika, is under attack by a strong Bulgarian force, according to Athens dispatches Thursday.

Greek troops around Seres are evacuating their positions and retreating southward under order from the Greek government, said an Athens dispatch Wednesday afternoon. The retirement was ordered after Greek positions had been heavily bombarded by the Bulgarians for several hours.

The Greek commander in the Seres region, who prepared for a determined resistance as the Bulgarians approached the city, was apparently overruled by his superiors at the capital.

A delayed official statement from the Bulgarian war office Thursday night claimed further progress in the fighting near Seres and declared the allies were retreating along the right bank of the Struma. The German war office, however, admitted that on the allies' left wing the Serbians have checked the Bulgarian advance by obstinate resistance. An official statement from the French war office reported the Serbians pushing back the Bulgars at some points.

The Greek garrison is co-operating with French forces in defending the city. French artillery is replying vigorously to a heavy Bulgarian bombardment, while the Greeks under command of Colonel Christophoulos are throwing up entrenchments. The Seres garrison is being reinforced by small Greek detachments which retired upon the city after spirited fighting with numerically superior Bulgarian forces.

Checked Elsewhere On practically every other sector of the Balkan front, the Bulgarian offensive has been brought to a standstill. The Serbs have yielded but little ground on the left wing since their first retirement. Anglo-French forces are consolidating and improving their positions in the Doiran region on the center.

The Bulgarian drive southward against Seres, a city of 35,000 inhabitants, has created a new and more critical situation at Athens. If Seres falls, the Bulgars will be practically cut off all the Greek troops operating in eastern Macedonia, a territory highly prized by the Bulgarians. These Greek detachments, in the event Greece enters the war, could rejoin the main Greek army only by a march along the seacoast and across a narrow isthmus formed by Thracian lake and the sea.

Bulgars Win on Struma BERLIN, Aug. 24.—Bulgarian forces defeated the enemy in fresh fighting on the Struma, the Anglo-French troops escaping by flight on the right bank, said a Bulgarian official statement received here Thursday. In their flight the allies abandoned several hundred dead.

LA FOLLETTE, ESCH AND M'GOVERN STIR UP POLITICAL POT

Arrangements Go Forward for Big "Bob" Meeting Friday Evening at Yeomen Hall

M'GOVERN HERE TONIGHT

Congressman Esch Comes from Washington to Spend a Few Days in the District

Politics, already warmed up by the appearance of Governor Philipp and his team-mate, Max Jeffris, today approached the heated stage with the arrival of Congressman John J. Esch to begin a week's whirlwind campaign in the district, prospects for a rousing meeting for Senator Robert M. La Follette Friday night, and the expected advent of Francis E. McGovern, to orate from the court house steps Wednesday evening.

Big Meeting for "Bob" In progressive circles the La Follette meeting was occupying the center of interest. "Fighting Bob" will talk in Yeomen hall, and the progressives were busy today making preparations for the meeting. Posters appeared all over the county today, advertising the senator's coming, and workmen were busy with extra seats for the hall—the largest auditorium available. It is estimated that the hall will hold 1,200 people, and prospects are that it will be full to running over. Word from the outlying districts indicates that the county will be represented in large numbers, and there is much interest displayed in the city.

"Bob," it was said, will arrive early Friday morning for a brief conference with the leaders. Later he is booked for a speech at the Tomahawk, returning in the evening for his Yeomen hall meeting. Efforts were being made to have him address the Chautauqua in Onalaska before the Yeomen hall meeting, but this had not been settled at a late hour.

Esch Confident

Representative Esch, who arrived here last night from Washington, evidenced no repudiation regarding the result of the primary, although he has allowed himself less than two weeks to campaign. He is opposed by A. E. Frederick, of Kendall. Mr. Esch is full of enthusiasm for the fray, and plans to get out into the district Friday for a week-end circuit through Vernon county. No formal meetings have been arranged. Mr. Esch will probably go by train to Viroqua, and take to an automobile there to get out among the voters.

Mr. Esch, who is a member of the republican congressional committee, is confident that the house and senate, particularly the house, will be carried by the republicans in the fall. He pointed out that the democratic majority in the house is barely 24, and that only nine of a possible thirty-two seats are needed in the senate to insure republican control. If the republicans are able to organize the house, Mr. Esch, ranking republican member of the interstate commerce committee, is certain of the chairmanship of that important organization, a distinction which comes only after years of service.

Mr. Esch is deeply interested in the work of the new Newlands joint commission on railroad transportation which is charged with a thorough investigation of railroad, express, telephone, telegraph and wireless business. It is also to investigate the desirability of government ownership, and to take up the advisability of placing all railroads under federal control, as opposed to the state commissions.

Mr. Esch said the commission is to start its hearings right after election.

Union Leaders See Wilson

Part of the line of 640 railroad employees representing union filing into the east entrance of White House. President Wilson talked to the six hundred and forty chairmen representing the 400,000 railroad men involved in the present dispute about the eight-hour day for over fifty minutes, telling them that he had decided to ask that the railroads concede the eight-hour day. The White House lawn was thronged with men daily, coming in in crowds, one part of the White House being set aside for their use as a conference room.

JEFFRIS AGAIN READS SENATOR OUT OF PARTY

Governor Philipp Reiterates the Claim of Saving in Riverside Park Meeting

JEFFRIS KILLS STRAWMAN

Demolishes Target Set Up by Stalwart Friends with Great Oratorical Flourish

Senator La Follette was again read out of the republican party, and Governor Philipp's protestations of economy were repeated, when Malcolm G. Jeffris, stalwart republican candidate for the senatorial nomination, and the governor spoke in Riverside park.

A good-sized crowd, numbering perhaps 2,000 men, women and children, was present when Mr. Jeffris was introduced, but it melted away rapidly, and numbered scarcely a thousand by the time Governor Philipp took the floor. Before he finished, 500 was a liberal estimate of the governor's audience. The crowd had come early to enjoy a band concert, and that being concluded with the arrival of the speakers, drifted rapidly out of the park.

Jeffris Floors Strawman

Candidate Jeffris reached his climax when, with oratorical flourishes he knocked down the strawman which the stalwart organization of the county had erected for him in the shape of three questions regarding the party regularly to be expected respectively from Mr. Jeffris and Senator La Follette. The Janesville man, ringing his belief in the republican organization in the senate if elected. On the third question, however—regarding support of the republican ticket nominated at the primaries in September, Mr. Jeffris hedged a bit. His republicanism, he said, was not so "hidebound" that he would vote for a dishonest republican candidate, and he forthwith launched into an attack on Senator La Follette for what he declared to be the senator's attempt to play upon racial feeling for German votes.

"La Follette Only for Self"

"La Follette is neither a republican nor a democrat. He is against both Hughes and Wilson, and only for himself."

That was the text of Mr. Jeffris' speech. He criticized the Wilson administration at some length, particularly concerning the Mexican policy, or "lack of policy," and denounced the Underwood tariff.

His denunciation of the tariff bill passed by the democrats served as a vehicle to attack Senator La Follette.

"The reason why I bring up the tariff in this campaign," said Mr. Jeffris, "is this:

"A couple of years ago Senator La Follette said that the protective principle in American government had gone forever. He voted for the democratic tariff bill. Now he is going about the state advocating the principles of protection, and explaining his vote on the tariff bill by saying that there were a number of improvements he attempted to incorporate in the bill, that it didn't satisfy him, but that he voted for it as being the best he could get."

"What would you think if you called in a doctor for liver trouble, said, and he told you that he was out of calomel and gave you a great big dose of arsenic instead?"

Claims He's Regular

"I am running as the regular republican candidate," Mr. Jeffris declared. "Mr. La Follette is on the other side, as the other candidate. He is neither a republican nor a democrat. In an eight-hour speech that

FIRST SURMARINE TO CROSS ATLANTIC SAFE BOAT REPORTED HURT

DOPE FIENDS ARE HELD FOR ROBBERY OF AGED SHOWMAN

Two Arrested Following Loss of Wallet Containing $80 on Train at Trempealeau

BOTH USE MORPHINE

Pair Is Caught Here About to Board Train with Tickets for Sparta

Two suspects, who proved to be dope-fiends, are held at Central station in connection with the robbery of C. D. Obrecht, 418 South Fourth street, on a railway train at Trempealeau Wednesday afternoon. Obrecht, an aged showman, was relieved of a wallet containing over $80 in bills and silver.

F. L. Meyers and Richard B. Jerome, both about 22, are the two suspects arrested. When searched at the station each was found to have a hypodermic syringe and a box of morphine tablets. They became so nervous during the evening that the police were forced to allow them a "shot" to quiet them.

Obrecht said that as he climbed aboard a train at Trempealeau, bound for the Galesville fair, he was jostled by two young men. They squeezed him between two seats in the car, he said, and bumped him with a satchel. A second later he discovered that his wallet was gone.

He set up a cry that he had been robbed, and turned in time to see the two young men disappear into the crowd on the platform.

The La Crosse police were notified, and Meyers and Jerome were arrested here when the got off the Northwestern train which arrived here from Trempealeau at 11:05. They were arrested at the Milwaukee station, where they had purchased tickets to Sparta and were about to board a train. The men answer fairly well the description given by Obrecht.

Searched at the station, Meyers had but $5.49. Jerome had $8.16. That the money might have been given to a confederate in the crowd, however, was the belief of the police. Obrecht was at the station this morning to look at the prisoners.

SOCIABILITY TOUR OVER L-T-K TRAIL DUE HERE SATURDAY

President of Association Finishes the Route Marking as Far as Hokah, Minn.

Probably more than a dozen automobiles, from Tama, Iowa, and other places along the L-T-K trail, are due here on Saturday, according to President E. L. Beard, president of the L-T-K trail association, and J. H. McKinney, both of Tama, who motored into the city last night at the conclusion of a trip whereby the trail was fully marked from Kansas City to Hokah, Minn. The marking of the rest of the trail, from Hokah to La Crosse, is to be done by La Crosse motorists.

Mr. Beard and Mr. McKinney got into touch with C. S. Van Auker, La Crosse vice president of the La Crosse-Tama-Kansas City trail organization, and informed him of the impending visit of the Iowa tourists. The "sociability tour" will start from Tama on Friday, coming north over the road just marked. It will finish Friday at Cresco, Iowa, and spend the night there, starting out the next morning for La Crosse. The party is expected to roll across the bridge here some time Saturday afternoon.

It is expected that a party of local motorists will travel out over the trail to meet the visitors and escort them back to the city.

Mr. Beard and Mr. Kinney reported that at Harmony, Minn., they were met by a delegation of business men anxious to have the trail route changed to pass through Lanesboro, thence on to the Twin cities. This route, however, had already been rejected by the association.

CHANNEL BLOCKADE SUCCESSFULLY RUN BY COMMERCE DIVER

Boat Emerges in North Sea and Calls at Heligoland to Allow Seamen to Stretch Their Legs

ELUDED EIGHT WARSHIPS

British Craft Hired American Fishing Boats Off Capes to Attempt to Locate Departing Diver

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—The submarine Deutschland evaded a score of British warship and patrol craft on the lookout for her and made her way safely through the English channel on her return trip from the United States, according to Bremen dispatches Thursday.

She came to the surface Tuesday afternoon in the southern part of the North sea after she had successfully run the British blockade in the channel. Not until she was approaching Heligoland and in no danger of being pursued by British warships did she wireless news of her arrival.

The Deutschland called at Heligoland for a few hours Wednesday morning, stopping long enough to give her seamen a chance to stretch their legs and obtain a first class meal. News of her coming was telegraphed to Bremen and a great crowd gathered at the docks and gave her a hearty welcome when she arrived Wednesday night.

The German Deutschland eluded at least eight English warships and a whole fleet of American fishing schooners, in the employ of the allies, when she dashed out to sea from the Virginia capes on the night of Aug. 2, it was learned here Thursday.

Captain Koenig had no fear of the allied warship patrol when he steamed southward from Baltimore, but he had not counted on the American schooners hired to help trap his vessel.

Encountered Fishing Boats Passing out of the capes the Deutschland encountered a great number of these schooners lying just outside Chesapeake bay. The schooners had dropped their nets, ostensibly to fish. Their real purpose, Captain Koenig said, was to make soundings for the Deutschland and to notify the allied ships if the submarine plunged through their nets.

Koenig telegraphed the Ozeanic company, owners of his vessel, that the American government observed correct neutrality throughout the Deutschland's stay. Both the British and French warships respected American rights and made no attempt to approach within the three mile zone in their efforts to trap the submarine. How many French warships were engaged in the patrol, he did not know.

Captain Koenig said the United States not only protected the submarine in every way on her departure, but increased the precautions after a British warship entered the port.

DO YOU RECALL EDWARD HINES?

Who knows Edward Hines, carpenter?

Yesterday Edward Hines applied to the Associated Charities at Des Moines for transportation to Council Bluffs where he hoped to get work. Edward said he hailed from La Crosse, and the Des Moines authorities accordingly wrote to the local office of the Associated Charities. Hines said he had worked for Fred Kroner Hardware company, but Fred Kroner said he never heard of him.

Who knows Edward Hines? If anybody does, he is requested to phone the Associated Charities at once.

ATTEMPT TO STEAL AUTO DELAYS TRIP

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 24.—To aid them in their transcontinental bumbling trip George Rivers, 18-years old, of Philadelphia, and Edward Smith, 17, from Massachusetts, attempted to steal an automobile Saturday night but were caught before making their escape with the car.

Their trip will be interrupted by a one year stay at the Green Bay reformatory, which was the extent of their sentence.

RUNAWAY KILLS BARLEY THRESHER

Young Man Is Fatally Hurt in Accident Near Harmony and Dies Later

HARMONY, Minn.—(Special.)—Albert Finstad, 21, was accidentally killed Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock on the Will Burmeister farm while he was handling barley for the threshing machine. He was seen to fall from his load of barley down back of the horses. The frightened animals began to run and the wagon went over his chest. Dr. Kierland was called but he lived only fifteen minutes after he was hurt. He leaves his parents and several brothers and sisters. The funeral was held Monday afternoon at the Henrytown church, Rev. Rasmussen officiated.

Alumni Meet.
The alumni of the Harmony high school recently held their annual meeting at the school parlors. There were forty-five members present. A program was given after which refreshments were served. The following were elected: President, Elia Sanderson; vice-president, George Todd; secretary, Loretta Armstrong; treasurer, Esther Aug.

W. T. Burmeister Dead.
Wm. T. Burmeister, of this village, was taken suddenly ill about 7:30 o'clock and died at 10 o'clock last Wednesday evening. The immediate cause of his death being heart failure superinduced by high blood pressure. He was born in Pommern, Germany, in 1856. When nine years old he came to this country with his parents and settled on the farm of which he became owner two miles northwest of Harmony. There he lived until a few years ago, when he retired from active farming and moved to town. He was married to Miss Mary Bigalk thirty-eight years ago. She survives him with four children, Mrs. L. Kleimenhager, Mrs. Wm. Pfister of Preston, Mrs. Alvin Pfister, Locust Lane, Iowa, and John, on the home farm. He is also survived by two brothers, Ernest of Preston and Charles of Harmony. The funeral was held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home and later at the Big Spring church, Rev. Dungs officiated. Interment was in the Big Spring cemetery.

REEDSBURG PAIR MARRIED 60 YEARS TOWN CELEBRATES

G. A. R. Veteran Enjoys Diamond Wedding; Wife Crossed the Ocean Seven Times

REEDSBURG, Wis.—(Special.)—An unusual event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Claridge last Saturday when they celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary. The plans for the celebration were all made and carried out by the seven children. The immediate family and near friends were at the home for dinner. The G. A. R. and their wives came in the afternoon, staying to enjoy the fireworks which were displayed in the evening. A treat was planned for all of the children of the neighborhood, each child receiving a George Washington hat, a jar of candy, ice cream cones and a toy balloon. The music was furnished by the drum corps, Mr. Tibbets, Mr. Seasmans, Mr. Pettis and Mr. Charles Todd.

Thomas W. Claridge and Hannah Politt were married at Manchester, Eng., on the 20th day of August, 1856, by the Rev. H. M. Westmore, Minister Canon. They immediately came to America, where they settled in the town of Franklin in Sauk county, where a large farm was the result of many years of hard labor so common to the pioneer settlers of this country.

In 1882, Mr. and Mrs. Claridge moved with their family to Reedsburg, where their influence has been uplifting and upbuilding in both public and private ways. Mr. Claridge served very faithfully for six years as postmaster in Reedsburg. He served in Company A in the civil war, as a private in the Wisconsin volunteers. He served all through the war and was present at the surrender of Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. Claridge have seen a great deal of this world's pleasure as well as sorrow. They returned to England to visit their relatives and friends after they had been in this country several years. Mrs. Claridge has crossed the Atlantic seven times. Their friends all over the United States have remembered them on their 60th anniversary, sending them their congratulations and best wishes. Even the soldier boys in Texas remembered them.

Their children, who were present, were Mrs. Sarah Claridge and children, John Claridge and family, Charles Claridge and daughter Eva of Oklahoma, Tom Claridge and son of Chicago, Laura Townsend and husband, and Joshua Claridge and family of Chicago.

The other out of town guests were George Dikeman and wife of Philadelphia, George Claridge and wife of Spring Green, Tom Dickerson of Black Hawk, Sam Magli of White Mount.

George Claridge of Spring Green, a cousin of Mr. Claridge, stood guard over the body of Lincoln when it lay in state at the White house.

Mr. and Mrs. Claridge have celebrated their 50th, 55th and 60th anniversaries and it is the wish of their many friends that they will live to celebrate their 75th anniversary.

Local and Personal
Mrs. Krohn entertained sixteen young people in honor of her nieces, Merle and Valeria Klug, who are here from Merrill.

F. F. Mueller, Otto Haessler and Mr. Meyers of the Reedsburg Broom works, went to Illinois to purchase several carloads of broom corn for the Reedsburg factory.

Little Virginia Martin, who died at Trempealeau, is a niece of Mrs. Ernest Woodworth of Reedsburg.

A very quiet and pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Townsend, 717 East Main street, when their daughter Doris was united in marriage to Maurice Deppe of Baraboo. Rev. Foster of Oregon performed the ceremony at 8 o'clock in the presence of about twenty of the immediate family. The bride wore a dainty white lace dress and carried a bouquet of white roses.

A five course dinner was served immediately after the ceremony. The happy couple left for Milwaukee, Marshall and other points. They will be at home in Baraboo after September 1.

LECTURE SWELLS CEMETERY FUND

NEW LISBON, Wis.—(Special.)—Fred J. Carr's lecture on Tuesday was given to a packed house and was very interesting. It netted the cemetery association $257. The door receipts were $128.50 which was doubled by Mr. Carr. The musical numbers were exceptionally good. Miss Josephine Reisenmauer sang.

Mrs. C. Nelson of Chicago gave two solos and Mr. Nelson gave two cornet solos which were much appreciated.

Roy Newport donated the proceeds from his pop corn stand which amounted to $1.50 for Tuesday night to the fund.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

BY CONSENT

BY FLORA A. MONTY

(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Eloise did not dress to suit her type. She suited her type to her dress, and thereby kept her friends guessing as to her moods and manners.

In the days of her small girlhood, the Shelbys had lived next door to her at Yorktown, and had later moved to Norfolk. Now, Eloise was making her first visit in many years to Miriam Shelby, and instead of being entertained, owing to the piquancy of her ways and dress, she was herself the entertainer.

Big, breezy man-of-the-world Tim Darcy invited her to be his guest at the races within half an hour after he had met her. Miriam's brother Dick told her about hearing Darcy remark to Edgar Herdon that he was going to have "some looker" at the races tomorrow. Drop around to the box and meet her. She's been around in the world.

In answer to the invitation, Herdon "dropped around" during a lull in the activities, and found Tim for once in his life, ill at ease and obviously anxious. The girl who was his guest was "some looker," round eyed, adorable, timidly endeavoring not to appear shocked at the dreadful spectacle of horse races and betting. Dick Shelby, who had made it a point to be there, also realized that she was having the time of her life in playing the unsophisticated, sheltered damsel that she appeared today, and he treated her with exaggerated deference.

Gowned in a full, short dress of fine organdy, with big pink flowers, a soft, white fichu tucked primly about the throat and fastened with a pink tea rose, she looked demure indeed. A big poke bonnet, with pink roses and black velvet ribbons, completed the picture of an old-fashioned girl—a girl who looked as out of place in her surroundings as a lily in a coal mine.

Herdon, who, although a close friend of Darcy, was, strangely enough, a man of the old school type, and his heart warmed to the quaint maiden he had just met. She refreshed his soul, and he promptly begged her to attend a studio tea that he was giving on Saturday to a group of dignified friends of his mother and his lately married sister.

On Saturday the older guests assembled early, and to them Herdon boasted of a girl, absolutely foreign to the usual type of society butterfly, and all innocence and unworldliness. So well had he paved the way that when Eloise's name was announced a pleased flutter of expectancy pervaded the room. The few men guests, who were present for business reasons rather than inclination, assumed a manner of bored indifference—but only for a moment.

When she entered, every one gasped, for a golden, glittering siren glided in, strikingly arrayed in next season's style. Her dress was of shimmering golden silk, smartly short. Around the ankles of her silken hose were embroidered tiny green serpents, and her left wrist was inclosed by a bracelet wrought in the semblance of a serpent. Her hat was the last word in Paris style, and accentuated the darkness of her alluring eyes. She flourished a cigarette case, and offered her "pet brand" to some of the horrified old ladies, who were so shocked that they failed to notice that she herself abstained from smoking.

The bored, indifferent male members of the party nearly annihilated each other in the effort to devote themselves to her, in spite of the frigid manner of the ladies present. Eloise received their homage with a graciousness that made each individual man feel that it was directed to him alone, with one exception. Dick Shelby kept in the background and made no effort to talk to her. But when she arose to go, he, with quiet assurance, presented himself as her escort. For a moment she hesitated, and then, bowing, accepted his arm.

"Where's Miriam this afternoon?" he asked, when they were in the car, and speeding homeward.

"Miriam? Oh, she wouldn't be a party to my wickedness, so she stayed at home, consoling herself with Freddy Andrews," was the gay response.

"Now look here, Eloise! You are a stunner, and you know it, and you've got every one up in the air about you, but there is no sense in making people think you a regular Lorelei; and that's the impression you gave them today. A joke is all right, but I'm not going to have that kind of a notion spread about you. If you're doing it for excitement, let me provide you with some of the real kind for tomorrow. As your hostess' brother, I am supposed to do my share in entertaining you. I guess Miriam thinks I have thrown her down when it comes to that."

The brown eyes of the girl turned toward him, but he was gazing at the road straight ahead. Suddenly Eloise smiled. "All right, Dick! For Miriam's sake, then, What time shall it be, and what shall we do?"

"Good!" was the response, so fervent that it startled her. "Ten, sharp, in the morning. As to what—that is the excitement. You are not to know until the time comes."

Promptly at ten, Dick swung his runabout around to the veranda, and was pleased to find Eloise already there, trim, quiet and more entrancing than ever, in a simply tailored suit that made her look like a 17-year-old schoolgirl.

Dick's satisfied gaze enveloped her like a caress. Eloise felt herself yielding to the insistence of it. As the car sped away, and along a cool country road, she tried to recover her poise by monopolizing the conversation. Dick listened with that air of forced politeness that so surely accompanies a preoccupied mind.

Suddenly he stopped the car. They were near the entrance to a lane that led to a country church.

"I'm glad you're fittingly dressed for the trip, Eloise."

"The trip?" she questioned, puzzled.

"Our wedding trip," he explained.

"Our what?" Her eloquence failed her.

"We're going to be married, you know. I've arranged everything. The minister is up there at the church. Now, and after he's said the words we'll jaunt along to our cottage at the Dells."

"Dick Shelby, you despicable creature!" Her wrath blazed white. "So this is your boasted excitement! A cheap kind, I call it. I'll never marry you, and I want you to take me back, instantly!" Her anger beat against him as fruitlessly as wind against a rock.

"When you're ready we'll go on up to the church," Dick said quietly, ignoring her vehemence.

Eloise jumped from the car. "I'll walk back," she announced, with scorn supreme, as she noticed him follow her.

Just then a placid cow ambled slowly down the lane and into the road beside her.

"Oh, Dick, Dick!" she screamed, and lunged herself into his arms.

"Don't let it hurt me."

When a man holds tight in his embrace the girl whom he adores words are unnecessary if there be a responsive chord in her heart.

NEW ALBIN GIRLS PICNIC AT LAKE

NEW ALBIN, Ia.—(Special.)—On Monday afternoon a happy crowd of girls met at the G. A. Gerling home with heavy baskets, from that place they went to "Push Point," which overlooks the beautiful "Lake of Many Fish," where they enjoyed numerous games and later partook of a delicious lunch.

The honored guests were Miss Myrtle Bartell of Waukon and Miss Jennie Huss of Caledonia.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to flush Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation.

Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

Sunrise tomorrow, 5:20 a. m.
Sunset tomorrow, 6:54 p. m.

Yesterday's Temperatures
High, 84; low, 57; precipitation, 0.

Forecasts
For Wisconsin: Fair tonight and Friday. Somewhat cooler tonight and in southeast portion Friday.

For Minnesota: Fair tonight and Friday. Cooler tonight. Slightly warmer northwest portion Friday.

For Iowa: Fair tonight and Friday.
Slightly cooler in northwest portion tonight and in southeast portion Friday.

Weather Conditions
Fair weather prevails this morning in all sections except in northern Michigan where it is raining. The rainfall of the past 24 hours has been confined mostly to eastern Tennessee and North Carolina.

The temperature continues moderately high in the New England states but has fallen in the middle Atlantic states, lower Mississippi Valley and southern plains states. It is slightly higher in the central and northwestern states.

The pressure is lowest this morning from Lake Superior to the north Atlantic coast and highest over Wyoming.

These pressure conditions indicate fair weather for this section tonight and Friday with slightly lower temperature tonight.

CUSHIONS FOR CHARWOMEN

The Salvation Army has discovered a new use for scraps of old carpets, which frequently find their way into the waste heap. They are sterilized thoroughly and stretched into bags to be stuffed with rags and other packing, thus making cushions to be used by the charwomen who have to clean the marble floors of big office buildings on their hands and knees. These cushions are more practical than the mechanical devices that serve the same purpose and, at thirty or forty cents each, are a source of considerable revenue to the Salvation Army.

EVEN POLITICS
IF IT'S RIGHT

It was inevitable that steps taken by the president affecting the railroad situation would be termed "politics." That is not unjust to the president, or at least, it is but the conventional campaign injustice, for were a republican president in Wilson's shoes, the democrats would be making the same accusation.

It matters less whether the president's stand is "politics," than whether it is RIGHT. Indeed, a just settlement of the controversy probably is more important than who is elected president. Never has there been a time when a tie-up would have worked greater disaster, never a time when adjustment was of greater public concern.

That is the case as it affects the present. In the long run, the justice of the settlement is a thing greater than the mere fact of settlement. Just so far as justice accompanies settlement, settlement will be permanent; further than justice follows it will have to be gone over again.

Unquestionably the president is right when he says the eight-hour day is so widely recognized that it must be accepted in principle. But standing alone that would be an empty verdict. Not until the over-time pay principle accompanies the eight-hour principle will a working basis have been reached.

The necessity of the hour is great, but no man comprehends that necessity who does not see justice as an essential element.
Justice should be established, as nearly as is humanly possible.
That done, compliance should be enforced. The government is big enough, if need be, to take and run the roads, and at last the public has reached the point where it will say, "Amen!"

ACCEPT EXPERIENCE
AS THE GUIDE

James R. Kinsloe, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, has made his debut in La Crosse and the results are as gratifying as could possibly have been anticipated. At the public reception he made a decidedly favorable impression. He neither squandered words nor dealt in generalities but devoted himself to a concise and constructive business talk that left an impression of experience and efficiency.

To us, above all other things, one duty of the Chamber of Commerce stands out boldly. In Mr. Kinsloe the Chamber has employed an expert. He was selected because of his practical and extensive knowledge of such matters as come before chambers of commerce. He acquired that information not only through his personal experiences, but through following those of other chambers of commerce. He saw through what methods and by what programs some succeeded and into what pitfalls others stumbled on their way to failure. We value his integrity and intelligence, but more than these it was what he knows that we bought and are buying.

Under these circumstances it seems vastly important to give the secretary a chance; to yield to his better knowledge and more experienced judgment; to take his lead and follow his suggestions, rather than interpose ideas at variance with his conclusions.

There are so many things that a chamber of commerce may do, so many ways of doing different things, that always there is the danger of disagreement among members, of a fatal multiplicity of undertakings and of squandering the energies of the Chamber along lines not best advised and most advantageous. If we would avoid that—and it leads the way which many a chamber of commerce has followed to disaster—our only safety lies in the guidance of one whose learned profession is to lead along the highway of broad achievement without turning into the numerous blind alleys of worthy but petty enterprises.

WHAT MIGHT PEACE
TREATY HAVE DONE?

Recently William Jennings Bryan sent to the officials of the railroad brotherhoods the following telegram:

Messrs. Garretson, Stone, Carter and Lee,
Railroad Brotherhood,
New York.

If it is found impossible to agree upon arbitration, I venture to suggest for your consideration the plan embodied in the new peace treaties between this nation and thirty other nations representing three-fourths of the population of the world. These treaties provide for investigation of all disputes before resorting to war, but reserve the right of independent action at the conclusion of the investigation. The fact that the commission's report is not binding on the parties insures fairness. The commission on investigation provided for in the treaties is composed of five members, one appointed by each nation from among its own citizens, one appointed by each nation from a friendly nation and the fifth is agreed upon by the contracting parties.

In applying this plan to the present labor dispute, each side could appoint one member from among its own ranks and one member from the outside. The fifth member could be agreed upon by the parties or be selected by the president.

Pleading as justification for this suggestion my deep interest in the industrial situation and my earnest desire for an amicable settlement which will be just to all concerned, I am,

Very truly yours,
W. J. BRYAN.

Mr. Bryan's peace treaties may fairly be expected to prove an important contribution to that movement for world peace which will be the paramount world activity after the war. The colonel's detractors have attempted to belittle him upon the assumption that this war has proven that treaties are insufficient to restrain nations when war gets into the blood of men. We are inclined to think that in many cases this is honest criticism and in others it is a passing notion. One recalls with what fervor the nations and the journalists of the nation condemned the inhuman and extraordinary declaration of a German statesman that the treaty guaranteeing the neutrality of Belgium was "a scrap of paper." We believe that in general nations regard treaties as binding; in any event they are quite generally a restraining influence. That they will be strengthened in future by the experience of the present war seems a reasonable belief.

Perhaps neither faction in the railroad fight, now with their blood at war heat, will consider Mr. Bryan's proposition; but had there existed such a treaty between the railroads and their employees it is probable that today there would be no immediate danger of a tie-up of the nation's transportation.

Out of the Mouths of Kids

A certain youngster in Washington was one day suffering greatly with an aching tooth. His mother was endeavoring to calm him before the necessary visit to the dentist.
"You'll have it out, won't you, dearie?" the mother pleaded. "It won't hurt much, and then the ache will all be over." But the unhappy child continued to howl with pain. His mother, a year older, was likewise distressed, and added his pleadings to those of the mother. "Do have it out, dear," repeated the mother.
"Yes, Dick, have it out," added the brother. "It will be one less to

A Fair Attempt

Long had he worshipped her at a distance, but his shyness prevented him from proposing.

Then, one evening, for the sweet sake of charity, a theatrical performance took place, in which the charmer was leading lady and more adorable than ever. Afterward the shy admirer drew near, his love made valiant by the sight of her beauty.
"You are the star of the evening,"
he said, as they stood alone in a corner.

"You are the first to tell me so,"
said the damsel, with happy blush.
"Then," he retorted promptly,
"may I claim my reward as an astronomer?"
The lady looked puzzled.
"What reward?" she asked.
"Why, the right to give my name to the star I have discovered!" said the young man, speaking boldly at last.

THE TRIBUNE'S
DAILY
TRAVELETTE

(By Miksah)

PUERTO DE LUNA

Puerto de Luna is one of the anachronisms that still exist under the American flag today. It is hard to believe that the same banner floats over Puerto de Luna and Broadway.
The little village is a bit of the last century. It dates back to 1850, at least, and most of its inhabitants date back as far as you please. Puerto de Luna is a Mexican hamlet, as you may have guessed from its name, but it is not like any of the Mexican towns that are being described so liberally at the moment. It belongs to a class and an order of its own; to the patriarchal regime that obtained in the American Southwest before it was American in anything but name.

It sprawls over the sunlit sand-hills with no pretence at streets. Little square blocks of adobe houses, their doors and window-frames painted a pale disturbing blue and scattered about like a child's blocks on a nursery floor. Each house boasts its little conical mud oven, neatly whitewashed, sometimes in front of it, sometimes behind, according as the lady of the house prefers to bake in public or in private. In every window are carefully tended geraniums blooming in tomato cans, and vivid hollyhocks battle with the weeds on the mud roofs.

Here and there an indolent citizen suffles through the dust that powders him with its gray coating from his clumsy shoes to his shapeless drooping felt hat. A red bandanna trailing from the pocket of his overalls lends the touch of color that redeems him from the commonplace;
he wears it in obedience to the vague promptings of an artistic instinct, though if you asked him he would probably account for it on grounds purely utilitarian.

In the little one-room store the local dignitaries congregate—the storekeeper whom everybody owes,
the alcalde, the richest sheep-owner.
They discuss gravely the problems of nations, and the storekeeper breaks off to sell a shy little brown infant
a penny's worth of unsanitary candy.
The soothing, soporific sunlight beats down indifferently. There is no railway, no noon whistles, no time-schedule, no hurry. Puerto de Luna is an oasis of peace in a restless century.

PRUDENCE
OF THE PARSONAGE

The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

Prudence contracted her brows in the earnest endeavor to compose a menu suitable for this occasion.
"Mashed potatoes, and—use cream, Fairy. You'd better let Lark do the mashing, for you always leave lumps.
And breaded veal cutlet," with a significant glance, "and creamed peas, and radishes, and fruit. Will that be enough for you, Mr. Harmer?"
"Oceans," he said contentedly.

"Well, I'll collect the twins and Connie and we will try to think up a few additions. Where's the money?"
"In the dungeon, and the key is on the nail above the door. And the silverware is there, too," with another significant glance.

After that, Prudence lay back happily on the pillows and smoothed the lace on her mother's silk dressing gown.

"Talk to me," she said, "tell me about where you live, and what you do—your work, you know, and how you amuse yourself. I want you to amuse me now, Mr. Harmer."

"You called me Jerry this morning."

"Yes, I know. Do you want me to call you Jerry still?"

"Yes, Prudence, I do. Do you mind if I move my chair a little closer-er?"

"No, put it right here. Now, I am ready."

"But there's nothing interesting about me. Let's talk of—"

"It's interesting to me. Tell me about your business."

"You don't care anything about business, I am sure."

"I care about your business."

"Do you, Prudence?—You look so sweet this afternoon. I nearly blurted it out before the whole family.
Wouldn't the twins have laughed? It would have disgraced the parsonage. I think Mr. Starr is awfully lucky to have five girls, and all of them pretty. But isn't it strange that the prettiest and dearest one of them all should be the oldest daughter?"

"Oh, but I'm not really"—Prudence began earnestly. Then she stopped, and added honestly, "But I am glad you think so."

No, they did not quote poetry,
they did not discuss the psychological intricacies of spontaneous attraction, they did not say anything deep, or wise, or learned. But they smiled at each other, with pleased investigating eyes. He put his hand on the coverlet, just near enough to touch the lace on the sleeve of her silk dressing gown. And together they found Paradise in the shabby sitting-room of the old Methodist parsonage that afternoon.

"Must you prepare meat for breeding half an hour before cooking, or when?" demanded Fairy,
from the dining-room door.

"What?—Oh!—Fifteen minutes before. Don't forget to salt and pepper the crumbs, Fairy."

"Perhaps some time your father will let you and a couple of the others come to Des Moines with me in the car. You would enjoy a few days there, I know. I live with my aunt, a dear, motherly little old soul. She will adore you, Prudence, and you will like her, too. Would your father let you spend a week? We can easily drive back and forth in the car."

"Maybe he will—but who will keep the parsonage while I am away?"

"Fairy, to be sure. She must be a good fairy once in a while. We can take the twins with us, Connie, too, if you like, and then Fairy will only have to mother your father-er. Do you like riding in a car?"

"Oh, I love it. But I have not ridden very much. Willard Morley took me quite often when he was here, but he is in Chicago now."

"When's he coming back?" suspiciously.

"Prudence, shall we have tea or coffee?" This was Lark from the doorway. "Fairy wants to know."

"What?—Oh!—Which do you want, Jerry?"

"Which does your father prefer?"

"He doesn't drink either except for breakfast."

"I generally drink coffee, but I do not care much for it, so do not bother."

"Coffee, Lark."

"When's that Morley chap coming back?"

"I do not know." And then, "He is never coming back as far as I am concerned."

Jerrold relented promptly. "You are why he went away, I suppose."

"At any rate, he is gone."

"Did you ever have a lover, Prudence? A real lover, I mean?"

"No, I never did."

"I'm awfully glad of that. I'll—"
"Prudence, do you use half milk and half water for creamed tomato soup, or all milk?"

"What?—Oh!—All milk, Connie, and tell Fairy not to salt it until it is entirely done, or it may curdle."

"What in the world would they ever do without you, Prudence? You are the soul of the parsonage, aren't you?"

"No, I am just the cook and the chambermaid," she answered, laughing. "But don't you see how hard it will be for me to go away?"

"But it isn't fair! Vacation is coming now, and Fairy ought to take a turn. What will they do when you get married?"

"I have always said I would not get married."

"But don't you want to get married—some time?"

"Oh, that isn't it. I just can't because I must take care of the parsonage, and raise the girls. I can't."

"But you will," he whispered, and Over in Kansas they have a method of determining the proper length of a film kiss. It isn't a question of "kiss-as-kiss-can," but a very definite matter of film footage.

The Kansas state appeal board, which handles appeals of producing companies from the decisions of the state censor, judges the kisses, and is composed of the governor of the state,
the attorney general and the secretary of state.

Here is a sliding scale which governs the osculatory exercises of masculine screen stars:

First sweetheart or stolen kiss, commonly known as the "grab-it-
and-run" variety, three feet; second sweetheart kiss, fifteen feet; after the marriage of one year, twenty-five feet; after five years, six feet; after twenty years, no limit at all; mother-in-law kiss, five-sixteenths of a foot;
soul kiss, no limit determined upon,
the board still considering the question.

For feminine screen kissers:
New hat kisses bestowed on woman friend, six feet; rich uncle kiss, twenty feet; poor uncle kiss, one foot;
vampire kiss, status not determined;
kissing own baby, no limit; kissing husband, five feet for affection; for other purposes, depend on circumstances.

Stars Are
Bussy Posing
It would seem that movie stars,
when not working before the studio cameras, spend most of their time posing for portrait photographers, getting new pictures for the newspapers and magazines. Clara Kimball Young, during the last three months, is reported to have posed for a total of 955 pictures. Out of all these proofs submitted only 120 were said to have been passed by the critical eye of Miss Young and her publicity staff.

Lillian Walker
Newspaper Picture
We recently had Anita Stewart in a newspaper story and now comes Lillian Walker in another, entitled
"The Kid." It is scheduled for release August 8. The Kid is a waif who has been fathered by a star reporter, gets a position on his paper and is assigned to ferret out the cause of the sudden rise in meat prices. Shadowing the cattle king, she has him arrested for conspiracy and for the murder of his wife. She earns just before his arrest that he is her father, but leaves him to return to her foster father.

Preacher Would Use the Movies
"I believe the Apostle Paul would have turned a crank in a moving picture show if he believed he could gain men." Rev. John A. Marquis, moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, told the evangelist rally in Philadelphia.
"Any decent and honorable method to attract men to church is justified," he said. Then asked: "Why not moving pictures?"

promise to quit that?" His voice was raised, inquiringly.

"Would you have promised, if she had asked it?" This was sheer curiosity.

"I suppose I would." He flushed a little. "I know I was pretty hard hit, and it was such a new experience that I would have promised anything she asked. But I like smoking, and—I don't think it is wicked."

"Never mind the smoking. I only asked that question out of curiosity.
We're not as strait-laced as we might be perhaps. The only things I would really object to, are those things that might seriously menace your happiness, yours and hers, if the time does come. But the next question—can you pass a strict physical examination?"

STINGING DEFEAT INFLICTED TURKS

PETROGRAD, Aug. 24.—Russian troops have defeated four Turkish divisions (80,000 men) in a great battle near the village of Rachts near Mosul, 200 miles northwest of Bagdad, capturing two entire Turkish regiments, it was officially announced Thursday. Much cannon and other booty was taken.

Russian forces operating near Jablonitz pass have captured two heights north of Koverla mountain which lies just south of the Hungarian border, it was officially announced Wednesday.

In the General Fund of the state on August 19, 1915, and on August 19, 1916, I herewith submit the same.
Balance, General Fund,
Aug. 19, 1915 $4,309,332.36
Balance, General Fund,
Aug. 19, 1916 $40,341.55
"For purposes of comparison, it should be stated that in 1915 one-half of the railroad tax, amounting to $2,388,988.45, had been received prior to this date. This portion of the railroad tax for 1916, because of a change in law, will not be received until November.
"Eliminating the railroad tax for the year 1915 on this date, the balance would have been $1,926,543.91, which is the fair figure to compare with the balance given for the same date, 1916.
"You also ask for the General Fund receipts and disbursements from August 19, 1915, to November

1, 1915. The figures are as follows:
Receipts Disbursements
Aug. 20 to 31 $42,898.49 $178,820.01
September 192,124.86 933,236.74
October 317,893.46 927,362.43

$552,916.81 $2,099,416.18
"This shows the disbursements, $1,546,501.37 in excess of the receipts for that period.
"Very truly yours,
"J. S. DONALD,
"Secretary of State."

"This official statement shows that Governor Philipp has dipped into the state treasury for running expenses just $1,080,002.36. The state treasury has been depleted that much in one year to make a saving in tax levy of $841,626. To save $841,626 the present administration has spent $1,080,002.36 out of the working balance in the state treasury carried over from his predecessor. He has reduced the treasury balance $238,376 more than he has saved in the tax levy. What has become of this $238,376? The governor should file a bill of particulars. The fact is that the state revenues have been decreased by lower taxes on insurance companies and railroads, and expenses have been increased by newly created positions and increased salaries.

Mr. Johnson Admits It
"I have quoted figures from the secretary of state, the state's official bookkeeper. But to be sure of my figures, I have had them verified by the state treasurer, Henry Johnson, who is running for re-election on the same ticket as the governor. Mr. Johnson also keeps books to show the condition of the treasury from day to day. I read his official certificate.

"August 22, 1916.
"Mr. C. H. Crownhart,
"Madison, Wisconsin.
"Dear Sir:
"I hereby certify that the balance in the general fund as shown by the books of the state treasurer at the close of business on August 19th, 1915, was $4,392,472.80, and that the balance in the general fund at the close of business August 19th, 1916, was $906,695.40.

"Yours very truly,
"HENRY JOHNSON,
"State Treasurer."

"You will see that the figures of the secretary of state and state treasurer do not exactly agree. That is because bills may be audited by the secretary of state a day or two before they are paid by the state treasurer. But let us take Mr. Johnson's figures and apply the same methods to make them comparable.
"Amount on hand,
General Fund, Aug. 19, 1915 $4,392,472.80
Deduct one-half railroad taxes, 1916... 2,388,988.45

Comparable balance 1915 2,003,484.35
Amount on hand, General Fund, Aug. 19, 1916 906,695.40

Showing state treasury depleted in one year $1,096,788.95
"The state treasurer shows $15,786.59 more taken out of the general fund by the administration than the secretary of state shows.

Treasury to be Depleted
"Let us look into the future. The figures of the secretary of state show that the disbursements by the state for the period from August 19, 1915 to November 1, 1915 were $2,099,416.18. The receipts for the same period were $552,916.81. Excess disbursements over receipts $1,546,501.37. Assuming receipts and disbursements will be the same this year as last for the same period of time, the treasury will be bankrupt long before November 1, when the railroad taxes are to be paid. The amount of the obligations of the state for which payment must be postponed will be $706,161, and that will be the record of a "business administration". The state treasurer will have to close his doors to the state's creditors.
"Prior to 1915 railroad taxes were paid one-half on February 15 and one-half August 10. The law was amended under the present administration to make railroad taxes payable one-half May 1, and one-half November 1. The money that should be in the state treasury in February and May is now kept in the railroad's treasury until May and November. The railroads now have the use of the money two and a half months longer. The interest which formerly went to the state on daily balance is lost, making a deficit in the state revenue from this source of $24,899.43. Figuring regular rates of interest the railroad companies gain more than twice that amount.
"Why this law? It is only one of the great many favors extended to railroads in 1915."

BELIEVE RAID BY ZEPPELIN START OF GREAT ATTACK

German Dirigible Raids West English Coast During Night But Little Damage Is Done

REPORT OF GREAT SHIPS

New Dirigibles Reported 780 Feet Long and Capable of Speed of Eighty Miles Per Hour

LONDON, Aug. 24.—A Zeppelin raided the east coast shortly before midnight Wednesday night, the war office announced Thursday. No damage was done and there were no casualties.

The Zeppelin visit and others of the past few weeks are believed to have been reconnoitering flights for the purpose of testing out England's new air defenses in preparation for a great aerial attack.

For the last fortnight, word has been coming from Germany of the construction of huge Zeppelins, capable of carrying several tons of explosives. The German correspondents hinted that these new sky dreadnoughts would move against London and Paris during September and October when weather conditions are apt to be favorable. Zeppelins found the weather so favorable during September of last year that they made five raids on England in that month alone.

The first authentic information concerning the new Zeppelin giants was given to England by Baron Montagu, former vice chairman of the joint naval and military board in a speech Wednesday night. The new dirigibles are 780 feet long, can travel 80 miles an hour and can ascend three miles to escape shells from anti-aircraft guns. Each can carry five tons of explosives. The Germans have completed two of the new airships and will have four other available for raids on England in October, Baron Montagu said.

HOUSEHOLDER, MANIAC WHEN PUT INTO STREET, IS KILLED IN BATTLE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 24.—Dr. Fred M. Larkin, maniac, is dead and Patrolman P. V. Neff and S. Glenn Marshall near death, the result of a battle which followed attempts to arrest the demented man.

Five months behind in his rent, Larkin's effects were moved into the street Wednesday by his landlord during his absence. When Larkin returned he became a raving maniac. He smashed the door to his apartment and began breaking everything left in the place.

Police were called. Yelling, "I ain't afraid of any policeman," Larkin opened fire on Marshall and Neff, pouring seven shots into the body of the former. Neff grappled with the wild man but was shot five times before he shot Larkin near the heart.

Mrs. Maude Echor, sitting near a window fifty feet away, was grazed by a stray shot.

VILLA HIDING IN HILLS OF DURANGO PERSHING REPORTS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—General Villa is now hiding in the mountains of Durango with only a small force, General Pershing reported to the war department Wednesday.

Pershing's message said: "My last report regarding Villa reported in Parral now reported in Durango. He avoided Parral and places occupied by Carranza troops. He was making his way down into Durango. Probably now hiding in the mountains. Until recently Villa had been hiding, since being driven to mountains of Southern Chihuahua by our troops last April. His late attempt to obtain following reported an almost total failure.

"Opinion seems general that Villa prestige is gone and that he can never again become a serious factor in Mexican affairs."

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 24.—Edmond W. Morrison, a multi-millionaire recluse, was named as the real father of two girls he recently adopted in proceedings on Wednesday before Judge Landis.

The accuser was Joseph Burnstein, a junk dealer, and husband of the girls' mother. His wife, he declared, confessed to him on her death bed that Morrison was the father of the girls. The millionaire, who is nearly 80 years old, denied the accusation.

His reason for adopting the girls, he testified, was because their mother had pleaded with him, when she was taken ill, to care for them. He had known them all their lives, he said, and was fond of them.

SITUATION WORSE SAYS MEMBER OF RAIL COMMITTEE

RAILROADS YIELDING?

Roads Thought to Have Decided Acceptance of Eight Hour Day Is Only Solution of Crisis

By ROBERT J. BENDER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—"Since midnight the situation has taken a change for the worse," declared a member of the railway presidents' sub-committee before the sub-committee left for white house at their own request Thursday afternoon to confer with the president.

"The situation is very serious," he added.

The sub-committee R. S. Lovett, of the Union Pacific; Daniel Willard, of the Baltimore & Ohio, and Hale Holden, of the Burlington, expected to report the result of their visit to a meeting of the whole number of railway presidents at 3 o'clock. They left a meeting of the latter, which had been in session since 11 o'clock, to make the trip to the white house.

"Everything now depends on this visit to the white house," said one of the three. He would not discuss what turn the negotiations had taken to make the situation worse.

The executive in question is one who has heretofore talked optimistically concerning the prospects for adjustment.

The meeting at the white house lasted only ten minutes.

Leaving the white house, President Holden of the Burlington, spokesman of the group, said:

"The situation is not any more hopeful than it has been."

Contrary to the pessimism reflected by some of the railway presidents was the very hopeful attitude of the president. In administration circles belief is strong that things look better than they have at any time—certainly that there is no danger of any immediate breaking off of negotiations.

Meets Full Committee

The climax in the negotiations appeared to have been reached at 2 o'clock. At that hour the subcommittee of eight railroad presidents, representing the greatest systems of the country, met with the full committee of sixty-five executives to put up for discussion a tentative plan of settlement. This plan included acceptance of an eight hour day proposition, similar at least to that proposed by President Wilson.

Concession of the eight hour day was to be offset, it is understood, by assurances of immediate consideration by the interstate commerce commission of requests for rate increases, remedial legislation for the railroads by congress and the creation of a permanent commission to settle future labor disputes.

There was no repetition Thursday in the employees' session of the insurrection of Wednesday, in favor of an immediate strike. The four brotherhood leaders took to the session a message from Judge Chambers, a spokesman for the president, but they refused to reveal what this was.

"The situation is not depressing," said A. B. Garretson, speaker for the men. "We are still sitting tight."

Judge W. L. Chambers of the federal board of mediation and conciliation, conferred with President Wilson for half an hour Thursday morning and then left to confer with representatives of the brotherhoods. The general belief is that the eight-hour proposition, as offered by the railroads, was the subject discussed.

The president understood he was to receive some definite word from the railroad executives Thursday. He has not been informed whether it will be the final word on his own proposition or some counter proposition by them.

Railroads Giving Ground

The railroads are yielding to President Wilson's insistence on an eight-hour day. Thursday found the railway presidents and managers, here to settle the dispute with the railroad brotherhoods and to avert the threatened strike, practically agreed that there is no other way to meet the crisis. But they are struggling desperately with the problem of providing an eight-hour day that is not such an eight-hour day as the railroad workers demand. Effort of the railway presidents was concentrated Thursday on the task of putting the railroad brotherhoods on the defensive. To this end they were declaring generally their willingness to grant the eight-hour day while showing that the concession for which the brotherhoods are holding out goes far beyond that. Several thousand words of press statements directed to this purpose, were released Wednesday night, and today.

They will concede, the railway presidents said:

An eight-hour day for eight hours pay at present rates.

Overtime at present rates, or arbitration of the overtime question.

They say they will not concede an eight-hour day for which they must pay the same wage they now pay for ten-hour day. It would mean an increase of 21 per cent in wages to the brotherhood members, the presidents say.

"The employees haven't demanded a day of eight hours," said Julius Kruttschmidt, of the Southern Pacific. "They would work just as many hours as at present, but at much higher cost to the roads."

"If the brotherhoods are willing to work eight hours for a day's pay, this controversy could be settled in

MAKES GREAT FIGHT TO SAVE STIELOW

Mrs. Grace Humiston.

Mrs. Grace Humiston, the modern woman Portia, is making a lone fight for the life of the prisoner Stielow, who escaped the electric chair by about twenty minutes because of the confession of Irving King. King repudiated his confession, and Mrs. Humiston is having the battle of her life with prosecuting attorneys and detectives trying to make the confession stick.

Twenty minutes," said E. P. Ripley of the Santa Fe. "Let them declare for that and I'll take off my coat and put in my best licks for them."

President Johnson, of the Norfolk & Western issued a statement containing similar argument. The upshot of these declarations was the admission that the eight hour day is to be accepted in some form. They want it to be in a form that will not cost them the enormous sums which they say granting the brotherhoods' demands would cost.

LITTLE VIRGINIA NURSE IS DEAD

Word has been received here of the death of Little Virginia Nurse daughter of F. E. Nurse, instructor in modern languages at the state normal school. Mr. and Mrs. Nurse and Virginia were spending the summer on a farm near Norwalk, Ohio. Virginia would have been four in September, if she had lived. The cause of the death is not known here. Funeral arrangements are not announced.

SUPERDREADNOTHT BUILDERS WANTED WHEN BILL IS SIGNED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—When the navy bill is signed by President Wilson next week, the navy department will advertise immediately for bids for four superdreadnoughts. Bidding will close two months later.

At about the same time—October 1—plans for the new battle cruisers will be completed, the department hopes, and bids will then be asked on these with a two months' limit.

BADGER POTATO MEN PROTEST RATE WHICH FAVORS IDAHO GROWERS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Demanding $20,000,000 in compensation, the Northern Potato Traffic association on Thursday complained to the interstate commerce commission against discriminatory rates on potatoes from Minnesota and Wisconsin producing points to Dallas and other Texas points in favor of Idaho producers.

DANE COUNTY TOBACCO CROP WORTH $300,000

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 24.—The Dane county tobacco crop is valued at $300,000. More than 22,000,000 pounds of tobacco, the largest crop ever grown in the country is being harvested, more than 75 per cent of which has already been sold to the large manufacturers. The only thing that can rob Dane county tobacco farmers of the most profitable year in their history will be an early frost or a severe hail storm within the next three weeks. The crop will be harvested by that time.

BREMEN WILL ARRIVE IN AMERICA WITHIN FEW DAYS IS REPORT

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 24.—The submarine Bremen, sister ship of the Deutschland, will arrive in America within a few days, Director Lohman of the Ocean company, told a German newspaperman at Bremen Thursday. The Ocean company has received a message from the Bremen since she left port, he added.

Senator La Follette recently made in the senate, he succeeded in convincing both republicans and democrats that he is not behind Hughes, and not for Wilson.

He said that he hoped, in handling the Mexican situation, that Mr. Hughes would follow Wilson's footsteps. But Mr. Hughes is taking a totally different track, and if Senator La Follette follows Mr. Wilson, the trail leads him into the democratic camp.

Mr. Jeffris also turned his artillery on Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota, who is campaigning for Senator La Follette.

"Senator Clapp, in the recent Minnesota primaries, came in a poor fourth," he shouted. "He couldn't tell the people of Minnesota how to vote. And now he's here trying to tell you how to vote."

He read from Clapp's Waupaca speech the statement that defeat of La Follette would mean a final victory for the special interests.

"Isn't that sad?" he added. "Our only protection against the special interests is getting along past sixty. What are we going to do when he is gone? Friends, I suspect that if Senator La Follette or I had never been born, the state of Wisconsin would have been just as big and prosperous. The hobgoblin of special interests was a construction of La Follette's, and it will disappear with him."

Phillips on North Side

Governor Philipp, while Mr. Jeffris was speaking, made a flying trip to the north side, where he addressed a gathering in Copeland park, assembled to hear a concert by the north side band. In his north side speech the governor did not talk on state issues, devoting himself to a general declaration of Americanism, and pointing out the beauties of peace.

In his south side speech, Governor Philipp repeated his claims that he has saved the state approximately $1,000,000 in the last year. He repeated the charge of a "gentlemen's agreement" by which he declared the McGovern administration had foisted upon him $2,450,000 of expenses, and asserted that from the start of his administration he had been fought by an "element at Madison that was determined, before I ever became governor, to defeat every effort I made to carry out my promises to the people."

The governor made an interesting statement concerning what he declared to be a saving of $12,000 in state taxes to La Crosse county. He discussed an editorial in THE TRIBUNE of Wednesday evening, which showed that instead of the saving, there had been an actual increase of some $4,000 in taxes paid for state purposes.

"There's nothing to that, absolutely nothing," said the governor. "We made a change in the highway aid law. Previously the state collected the money from you and paid it back to you for the state share of improvements. Now it is paid out of the general fund, and is not born by the people unless there is a levy for the general fund. I have shown you that we levied for the general fund only $1,000."

Claims Saving of $12,000 Here

"We saved you $12,000 in this county. If your tax receipt says any higher, it's your own fault. What has the state government got to do with what you spend? Be generous before you accept the statements of these men who tell you the taxes are higher."

Concerning insurance rates, the governor said that he had been convinced that Wisconsin fire insurance premiums are too high, and that when it fell to him to appoint a new commissioner of insurance, he had told him to do his best to bring about a reduction in rates.

"He took hold of the matter," continued Mr. Philipp, "and in six months was able to report a reduction of from 20 to 30 per cent in towns and villages with adequate fire protection."

"They talk about what we should have done. Good God! They had the power for fifteen years and did nothing. What right have they to point a finger at us. We got something done in six months."

Switch Engine Wins

Governor Philipp was rather hoarse, and he experienced a great deal of difficulty in opposing a switch engine on the Milwaukee railroad tracks, which puffed so energetically as to drown out his remarks repeatedly. Toward the end of his speech the governor was forced to give up the fight and wait for the engine to leave.

"It's got more steam than I have," he told the crowd.

The governor denied that he was out of sympathy with the workmen's compensation act, and defended the central board of education which he put through at the last session of the legislature.

ARRESTED FOR MURDER

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 24.—Wanted in connection with the murder here Aug. 7 of George Rosenheimer, Theodore Plautsch was arrested here Thursday. The men had quarreled over a board bill.

of Baltimore one night, presumably to reconnoiter.

Submerged Only 110 Miles

During the whole journey of 4,200 miles, the Deutschland was submerged only for 110 miles. The weather was splendid at the beginning of the voyage, but became stormy later. The blow ceased as the Deutschland approached the English coast, but some difficulty was experienced because of the heavy fog.

The necessity for feeling her way slowly in the thick mists delayed the Deutschland's arrival several days.

Upon entering the North sea, the submarine encountered severe storms. She proved her excellent seacraft, her engines working perfectly, despite the fact that she was being rolled by mountainous waves.

Departed Slightly Damaged

THE HAGUE, Aug. 24.—The submarine Deutschland was slightly damaged on her return trip from the United States, according to Bremen dispatches Thursday. She took the same route on the return trip as on the voyage to Baltimore, members of the crew stated.

The Bremen dispatches also carried the statement that the submarine Bremen, sister ship of the Deutschland, only left for America a few days ago. She was held in port until the Deutschland's owners received positive information that the Deutschland had eluded the British patrol along the Atlantic coast and probably would reach Germany safely.

Takes Rubber and Nickel

The Deutschland brought three bags of mail from Ambassador Bernstorff and a cargo of rubber and nickel valued at a million marks, approximately $20,000.

Few Vessels Sighted

But few vessels were sighted and not a single iceberg was encountered. The Deutschland promptly submerged when another ship appeared on the horizon and her captain expressed doubt that she had been seen by any other vessel.

It was 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon when the Deutschland anchored in the Weser river after a short stop at Heligoland. Word of her coming was telegraphed to Bremen and the city was instantly beflagged.

Messengers were dispatched to the homes of members of the Deutschland's crew and bells were rung throughout the city. Two-thirds of the city's population gave the submariners a great ovation when they drew up to the dock at 7 o'clock. There were affecting scenes when the Deutschland's sailors, pressing through the crowd that swarmed in and about them, were greeted by relatives. In some instances, families of the submariners knew nothing of their departure on such an adventurous trip until after their arrival in America.

The men were all in good health and showed no signs of having undergone any severe hardships.

ENEMY NOT LOCATED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—"The enemy has not been located."

This was all the news of the naval war game that slipped by the censors Thursday. No important information was obtained from any of the intercepted enemy radiograms picked up by the defending fleet on the Atlantic coast and by shore stations.

Two more theoretical problems were sent by the navy department to shore stations. One was that the department had received reliable information that an attempt would be made to blow up the naval oil tanks at Narragansett bay. The commanders at the various points on receipt of these messages immediately began work on reports to the department telling what theoretical steps were taken against such action.

HOGS DECLINE AFTER REACHING HIGHEST MARK SINCE 1865

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—After reaching the highest price since 1865, hog values started dropping on the local market Thursday and at the close, choice hogs were selling at $11.10 a hundred pounds, a drop of twenty cents below Wednesday's close. Local buyers said heavy receipts were responsible for the decline.

Charges by Congressman Rainey of Illinois at Washington Wednesday that Chicago packers control the Schulze Baking company, large break makers here, and are in league with them to control bread prices, were denied by Charles Schulze.

DIES IN MINNESOTA

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Rose Ormond, sister of William Drake, of Appleton, Minn., Wednesday afternoon. Death came after a lingering illness. Funeral services are set for Friday morning. Mrs. Drake has left for Appleton.

HUGHES IN UTAH WHICH GAVE TAFT A BIG MAJORITY

OGDEN, Utah, Aug. 24.—Republican Presidential Candidate Charles E. Hughes on Thursday headed into Utah, the state which four years ago gave William H. Taft one of his two republican majorities.

It was more or less a day of rest for the nominee so he slept late. Mrs. Hughes having put her foot down hard on any extra strenuous activity, a rather quiet program was arranged for her husband in this, the first Utah city he has visited. He made one important speech here in the morning and was scheduled to deliver a night speech at Salt Lake City.

In his morning speech here, Governor Hughes enlarged on his dissertation regarding the democratic tariff policy, with special reference to the sugar tariff. Utah is a beet sugar producing state and the republican nominee's thrust at the democrats was received with enthusiasm.

J. C. DE LACY IS GONE TO REWARD

James C. De Lacy died at his home, 631 Market street, at nine o'clock Wednesday night after a long illness. Death was due to a complication of diseases.

Mr. De Lacy leaves a wife and two daughters, Mrs. F. M. Jacques and Mrs. I. N. Reynolds, who are both in the city; six grandchildren; two brothers, John De Lacy of Clinton, Iowa, and Thomas De Lacy of Fulton, Ill.; and four sisters, Mrs. John Garton, Mrs. A. B. Williams, Mrs. James Layden, of Minneapolis, and Mrs. Lizzie McGovern, of St. Francis, Texas.

Deceased was born in Montreal, Canada, in 1853, and was at the time of death sixty-three years old. He removed to Lansing, Iowa, in 1857 and to La Crosse in 1891.

The funeral will be held from St. Mary's church at nine o'clock Saturday morning, Dr. Condon officiating.

SHE SAYS SHE LIVED LIFE OF SHAME ON PROMISE OF MARRIAGE

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Katherine Kopperman, pretty 19-year-old stenographer made ten dollars a week at her desk and twenty dollars a night for Gustav Kugelmann, now under arrest, she told the district attorney, probing white slave traffic Thursday afternoon.

"You are a very intelligent girl; why did you do that?" asked District Attorney Swann.

"Because I loved too much and thought Gus would make good his promise to marry me," the girl answered. "But when I found out he had other girls working for him I came to you."

7,914 INSANE ARE IN BADGER INSTITUTIONS

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 24.—Wisconsin has a total institutional insane population of 7,914, according to an announcement by the state board of control Thursday. Of this number 4,440 are males, the remainder are females. Twelve are in the hospital for the criminal insane, 445 in the Milwaukee hospital for the insane and 6052 are in county asylums for the chronic insane.

The same census of the board of control announces that the industrial school for boys has a population of 403; state prison, 914; state public school, 165; home for the feeble minded, 1,124; state reformatory, 276; state tuberculosis sanitarium, 195 and Tomahawk Lake Tuberculosis camp, 17.

BOMB WRECKS HOME

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—The explosion of a bomb here early Thursday partly wrecked the home of Joseph Kerrigan, member of the Electrical Workers union. No one was injured. Windows in houses within a block of the explosion were shattered. The bomb was thrown into the hallway of the Kerrigan home by a man who passed the house in an automobile.

HICOSTALIVING ONLY TEMPORARY SAYS U. S. EXPERT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The super-high-cost-of-living is not here to stay, is purely commercial and readily traceable to the basic laws of supply and demand. This was the statement Thursday of Leon M. Estabrook, chief of the United States bureau of crop estimates, authority on food supplies.

While the prices of food should be properly expected to advance commensurate with the rising prosperity of the country to keep pace with the general rise in prices on all commodities, the present abnormal prices on many food staples will adjust themselves with another season, Estabrook said. Soaring prices of grain, he said, are directly due to the big falling off in production in almost every class, taken in with the bumper output of the past two years.

The sudden decrease in production this year has naturally sent prices skyward.

OIL TANKS EXPLODE ONE FATALLY HURT

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—A. B. Young, general foreman of a Standard Oil plant, was fatally injured and nine are in hospitals as a result of an oil tank explosion on Chicago's West side Wednesday afternoon.

Two firemen, badly burned by blazing oil, were rushed to St. Luke's hospital, where it is said their condition is serious.

TAFT OFFER TO STUMP FOR HUGHES ACCEPTED

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The republican national committee has accepted ex-President Taft's offer to take the stump in behalf of Candidate Hughes and an itinerary is being arranged.

Colonel Roosevelt's itinerary is being re-arranged to provide for a number of engagements in the middle west.

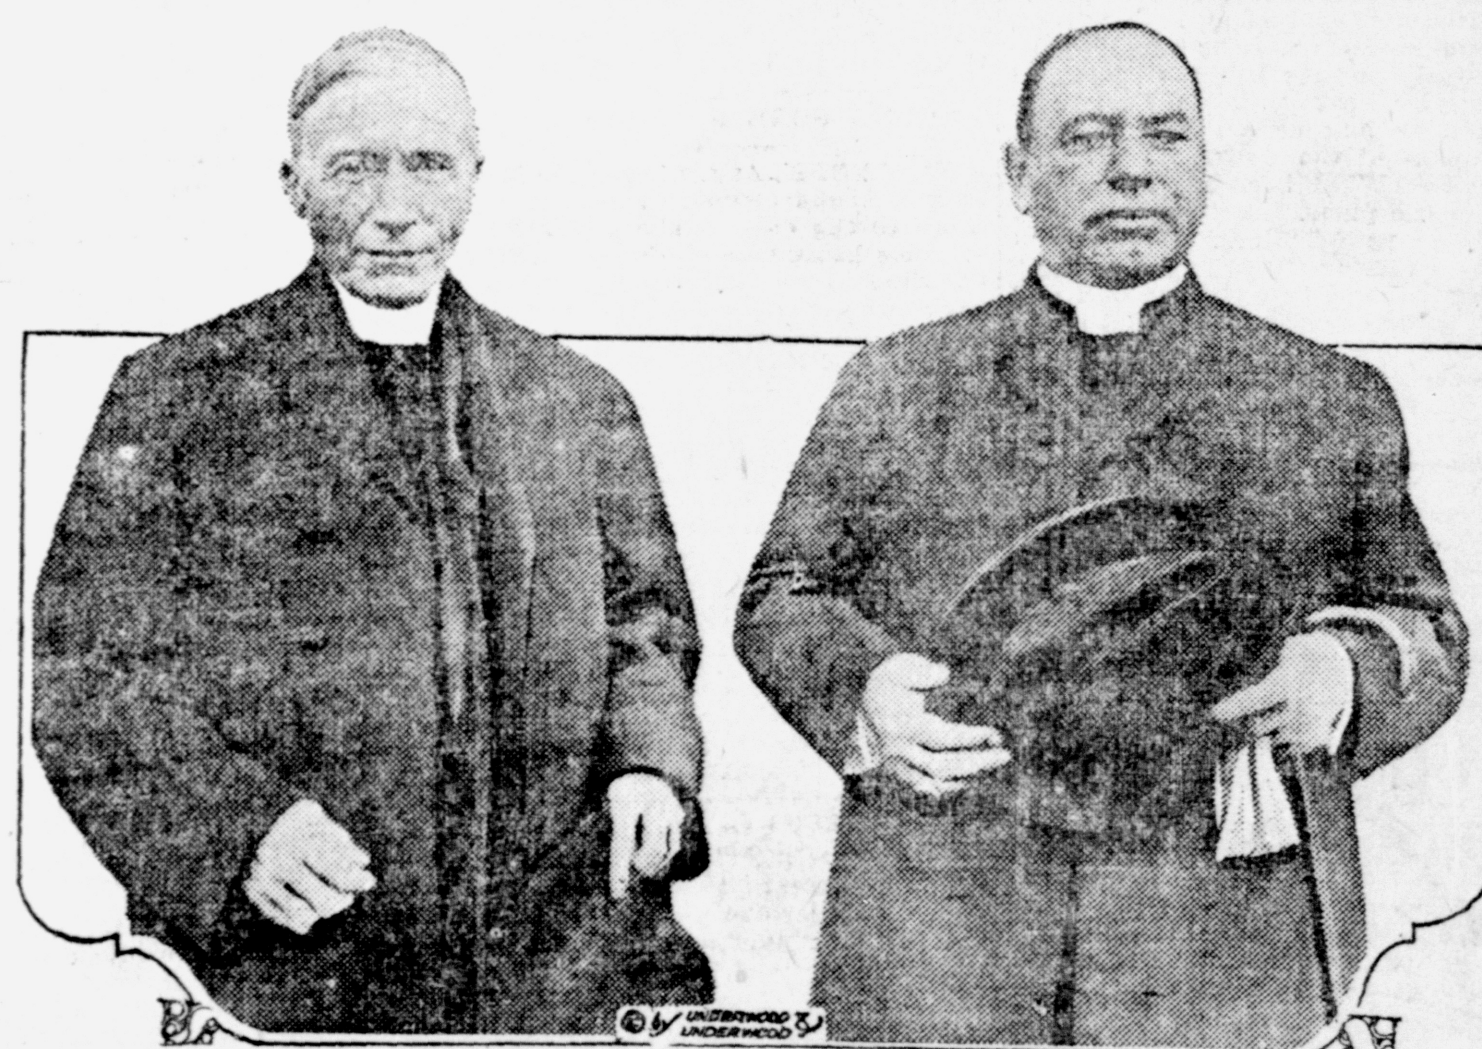

DRIVER THROWN AND HURT

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 25.—Curt Gosnell, of Muncie, Ind., driver of Single 6, a rival of the famous Napoleon Direct, was seriously injured Thursday at the North Randall race track where the Grand Circuit races are being held, when he was thrown while driving Hazel Armstrong. Gosnell sustained a broken shoulder and arm. Physicians said they fear he also fractured his skull.

NELSONS CHALLENGE CLAIM OF RAMBLERS TO INDOOR TITLE

Intimating mismanagement in arrangement for the championship game of the playground indoor baseball league of the city, the Nelson Clothing company team puts a question to the claim of the Ramblers, champions of the south side, to the city title through failure of the Nelsons to appear at Copeland park last Sunday morning.

The protest, which is a virtual challenge, follows:

"To the Manager of the Ramblers: We have noticed in a recent issue of the La Crosse TRIBUNE that you claim the city indoor championship for 1916 in default of the Nelson Clothing company team, which failed to appear at Copeland park Sunday morning last, to decide the city indoor title. We advised Director Wachter we could not play Sunday morning as several of our players could not play.

"As we hold the city titles for 1915, 1914 and 1915, we have the right to decide when games shall be played. We will definitely settle the city championship by playing the Ramblers any Sunday afternoon at Copeland park. (Signed)

"Members of the Nelson Clothing Company Indoor Baseball Team."

COMEDY OF ERRORS GIVES YANKS THREE OF FOUR WITH SOX

Mogridge Allows Four Hits But Four Errors and Scratch Single Net White Sox Three in Fifth

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—New York made it three out of four from Chicago, winning a game marred by errors, 5 to 4, on Wednesday. Mogridge pitched grand ball, but Chicago scored three runs on him in the fifth inning on four errors and a scratch single.

The Yankees won in the eighth, getting four runs after two out. With two out Peckinpaugh singled, Maisel was hit and Oldring walked, filling the bases.

Faber then replaced Russell in the box for Chicago and Mullen hit to Weaver. Fournier let Weaver's throw go through him and the three runners scored. Mullen taking third. After Baumann walked, Pipp, who had a lame foot, batted for Walters and drove Mullen in with the winning run. Rain fell through the greater part of the game. The score:

MINNETONKA TYPHOON IS CLASS WINNER

OSHKOSH, Wis., Aug. 24.—The first championship to be decided at the regatta of the Inland Lake Yachting association fell to the Minnetonka club Wednesday when its yacht, Typhoon, Skipper Allen Hill, captured the Class B event for the third consecutive time. Typhoon's victory carries with it, in addition to the first prize trophy, permanent possession of the Ordway cup and a leg each on the Clark-Hollister and Friend cups.

Natoma, of White Bear, finished second for the third time, clinching second honors for Class B.

CITY GUN CLUBS COMBINE FOR BIG TOURNEY SUNDAY

There's going to be some tall shooting at the range of the La Crosse Gun club Sunday. The La Crosse Pioneer Gun clubs combine and a tournament of good sized dimensions is scheduled to be pulled off. Shooting will commence at 1:30.

A Cold .22 caliber target revolver is the merchandise prize for high gun. Other merchandise prizes will be given. There will be one money prize for every three entrants. The entrance fee will be $2 for one hundred targets, the first 50 targets to be under the Sierken system. The second 50 targets will be at distance handicap for merchandise prizes.

The shoot will be open to all comers, but only members of the La Crosse and Pioneer clubs will share the prizes.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Wednesday's Hero
Joe Tinker By slapping a fine on Heinie Zimmerman for poor base running, Tinker, as manager of the Cubs, proved his bravery.

The Dodgers engaged in a long distance throwing contest at Chicago and the game went to the Cubs.

The Giants broke their losing streak. They won from a Dayton amateur team.

Benny Kauff hit a home run.

Wally Pipp, as pinch hitter, drove in a victory for the Yankees, giving the cripplies three games out of four from the White Sox.

Detroit scored ten runs against three for Philadelphia. One of them was the result of some base running by Ty Cobb. The Georgia peach scored from first on a single to left, completing the last lap while the third baseman held the ball.

An error gave the Browns the first game over Washington, but the Senators evened it when they won the second contest by the same methods.

It was Eddie Plank who succumbed in the second contest.

Tris Speaker lammed out two hits against his former team mates but the Red Sox made it four straight over the Indians.

Cleveland hasn't won a game since starting east.

The Phillies lost in sixteen innings to the Pirates.

ZIM'S DAYS AS A CUB ARE NUMBERED

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—With the trouble between Heinie Zimmerman and Manager Tinker of the Cubs, brought to a head Thursday as a result of their row yesterday, trading of the "Great Zim" is now considered likely at any time.

"Heinie Zimmerman is through as a Cub," Tinker said, after he and Zimmerman had a run in during Wednesday's game. Tinker was giving Zim some advice when the latter told Tinker "Go chase yourself," or words to that effect. Tinker fined Zim $50 and suspended him for ten days.

PARTISANSHIP CHARGES RESENTED BY CATHOLICS

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Because of the heat, an effort was made on Wednesday to wind up the business of the fifteenth annual convention of the National Federation of Catholic societies by night instead of holding sessions Thursday as originally planned.

The nominating committee was in session and there was every indication they would renominate present officers and that these would be re-elected.

Vigorous resentment over intimations that the federation is partisan, was displayed by both laymen and members of the clergy.

Kansas City was chosen as the 1917 convention city by the United Association of Catholic societies on Wednesday.

The convention voted to change the name of the organization to the Catholic Federation of the United States and to organize under the Boston plan with the diocese as the unit of organization, rather than the state or county. This plan will first be submitted to the bishops of the United States for their approval.

RYTHMICS OF NATURE IS LATEST IN DANCES

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Nature dancing, which interprets the emotions and is performed in the great outdoors with the performers draped in garments that fall in graceful folds, is the "very latest" in the terpsichorean art.

Instead of retreating to the lower animals, from which "Walkin' the dog" and "Fox Trotting" originated, dancing masters in session here Wednesday have gone back to early Hellenic days, when Grecian maidens danced beside mirrored brooks and on pebbled shores—to get their ideas.

LEE AXWORTHY TROTS RECORD MILE IN 2:00 1/4

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 24.—While two favorites were winners on Tuesday in the Grand circuit races at North Randall, surprises were plenty, outsiders and "dark horses" getting their share of the glory. In addition to some exceptionally fast racing and some hard fought brush-ups, the crowd of 8,000 was thrilled when Lee Axworthy trotted an exhibition mile in 2:00 1/4, breaking the world's record for stallion by three-quarters of a second. The record, 2:01, was held by The Harvester.

THE QUESTION OF STRIKES

1. The Trend of the Times
By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 23.—In this month of August 1916, with national prosperity running high, with the civilized world in an unprecedented state of excitement and turmoil, the United States is being swept by an epidemic of strikes. The threatened railroad strike, which has brought us to the brink of a calamity which experts assure us would be equivalent to a first-class war, has engulfed public attention to the exclusion of all other strikes, actual or threatened, but a moment's thought shows that the railroad dispute is only one of many. We have had, all in a few months, not only quarrels between railroad capital and labor, but strikes of garment workers, of traction employees, of miners, of milkmen, of box-makers, and strikes in a dozen industries each of them affecting more or less directly but vitally the national prosperity. An epidemic of strikes is no new thing. The country has seen as many as 3,500 strikes in a single year—about ten a day. Most people have come to regard the strike menace as something like the poor whom we always have with us—a condition regrettable but unavoidable which must be endured because it can't be cured. This public attitude is one of the worst features of the problem. For the question of strikes is not a static condition, but a living movement that is changing and progressing from point to point, for better or for worse. This movement has got to be controlled and directed by nation-wide pressure of public opinion. In the past, our custom has been to take a great interest in the problem as long as some big strike hurt our particular business. When the strike was settled we would forget all about strikes. As a result, a strike today can still bring us to the edge of national calamity. Another mistaken view point is that which would regard organized labor and the public as two different and often antagonistic parties. Organized labor is part of the public. Its ranks are over two and a half million strong—not far from ten per cent of the nation, when you include its dependents. In most strikes it is not only theoretically but actually a part of what we speak of as "the third party concerned—the general public." When the railroad men strike, milkmen and motormen and miners pay the price, whether the strike succeeds or fails. When the milkmen strike, the engineer's baby goes without milk. In other words, when the strike question is regarded as a whole, the interest of even the most ardent unionist is identical with the public interest. And the public interest, the interest of all of us, is to secure a means by which industrial disputes may be settled without industrial war. The analogy between strikes and warfare has often been drawn, and it has been claimed that as a last resort, both are inevitable. Whatever may be true of war, this is certainly not true of strikes. If war is inevitable it is inevitable because there is no existing power to which a nation of the first class feels that it should bow. In the event of a deadlock between two such nations, the only resort is the sword. But in the event of a deadlock between two parties within a nation, there is a power about them both to which they can with all dignity submit—the power of the nation as a whole. The individual submits to this continually in actual practice, quite irrespective of what he may regard as the justice of its decision. If you lose a law-suit where you consider you have all the right on your side, you do not declare a vendetta against your opponent and the judge. You swallow the injustice because for the good of society it is necessary to abide by decisions. Of course, you can not help yourself, but you will be quite ready to admit in theory that this is the only system on which society can be run. The question today is whether organized labor and organized capital have reached the position of the private citizen who abides by a court decision whether he likes it or not. Sooner or later, labor and capital will reach that position, and we will have peaceful settlement of industrial disputes. It is important to note, however, that the individual continues to put up with court decisions, in the long run, because his rights are conceded, in theory, to an extent that fully satisfies his sense of justice. He may not like the decision but he has got to admit the perfection of the theory on which the decision is based. If the decision were based on the idea that some men are better than others, the injured party would either leave the country where such theories obtained, or else eventually he would get together with a large number of other injured parties and proceed to reconstruct the constitution with an ax. In other words, when a man creates disturbance in order to make society admit his inalienable rights, he is fighting because he does not like the way in which an impartial tribunal has applied the theory in a particular case. He is in the position of a man who attacks the jury in a damage suit which has been decided against him. Organized labor has had a long fight in making society concede its rights. The first strike in the United States was back in 1741, when the bakers of New York "turned out," as they called it then. They were indicted for conspiracy. So were the shoemakers of Philadelphia, when they struck three times in the decade of the 1790's. In 1805 these same militant shoemakers were fined for the same offense. It was not until 1842 that the Massachusetts Supreme Court handed down a decision ruling that workmen had a right to strike on a question of unionizing a shop. Today the most advanced legal opinion inclines to the view that workmen may strike at any time for any cause that seems to them sufficient, provided they are not under contract, although some courts still hold that the motive affects the legality of the strike. If we have progressed from the day when men might be fined and imprisoned for "conspiring" with other men to quit work in a body, to a time when any body of men may quit work at practically any time, would we not be going back on our tracks, relapsing into the methods of two centuries ago if we try to limit that right today? And how about the Thirteenth Amendment which says that no man shall be kept in involuntary servitude, except in punishment for crime? If a man has to go on working when he wants to strike, is that not involuntary servitude? These are some of the questions that opponents of formal provision for arbitration ask. The answer lies with the increasingly efficient and solid organization that has grown up both in capital and in labor. There must be voluntary recognition of the principle of arbitration, one the theoretical rights of each party have been agreed upon. And the nature of those rights should be settled in time of peace, not while the country is being torn by industrial war. Once the rights of each side in theory have been agreed upon, and the nature of the tribunal which is to uphold them, neither side should have the right to appeal to the strike or the lockout if dissatisfied with the way that tribunal applies those theories in a particular case. Public sentiment is against compulsory arbitration, with denial of the right to strike. Hence we need voluntary treaties of arbitration entered into between both sides of their own free will, before the emergency arises. And we need the force of an organized public opinion to bring into being such treaties and such a tribunal with a nation-wide scope. If a girl knew how pretty she doesn't look when she cries she wouldn't do it.

POP BOTTLE HURLED BY JILTED DANCER IS DEATH TO BABE
CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 24.—Posses Wednesday were scouring the woods for traces of Howard Glendenin, 25, farmer, who is charged with the murder of G. F. Boggess' three months' old baby. Police say Glendenin threw a pop bottle at Mrs. Boggess, who with her husband and baby was attending a dance given at Glendenin's house. The bottle missed the woman and struck the child, killing it instantly. Mrs. Boggess had refused to dance with Glendenin.

La Crosse people are astonished at the INSTANT action of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-I-ka. ONE SPOONFUL removes such surprising "foul matter" it relieves almost ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas. Because Adler-I-ka acts on BOTH lower and upper bowel, a few doses often relieve or prevent appendicitis. A short treatment helps chronic stomach trouble. Hoeghler Bros., druggists.

Out of Sorts
THAT IS, something is wrong with baby, but we can't tell just what it is. All mothers recognize the term by the lassitude, weakness, loss of appetite, inclination to sleep, heavy breathing, and lack of interest shown by baby. These are the symptoms of sickness. It may be fever, congestion, worms, croup, diphtheria, or scarlatina. Do not lose a minute. Give the child Castoria. It will start the digestive organs into operation, open the pores of the skin, carry off the fetid matter, and drive away the threatened sickness.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Dr. J. C. H. H. H.

AUTO BANDITS PLEAD NOT GUILTY IN JUSTICE COURT

Sparta Plans a Course of Fine Lectures to Be Given During the Coming Winter

SPARTA, Wis.—(Special.)—Dan Crowley and Arthur Abrahamson, who were arrested at Mauston Tuesday afternoon, charged with stealing John Youngman's automobile from his garage, Monday night, had their hearing in Justice Lamson's court this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Both pleaded not guilty and were bound over to the circuit court for trial under bonds of $2,000 each. The money for the bonds has not been raised and the men were committed to jail.

Lectures This Winter
A lecture and entertainment course consisting of five numbers has been engaged for the coming winter. A group of men of the Methodist church assumed the responsibility of a course last year and it was very successful. This year the men of the century Sunday school class of the M. E. church have undertaken the matter. Their plan is each year to use any surplus money from the course for better talent the next year. Thus the entire community enjoys the profits. The entire course of five numbers will sell for one dollar and to all students 75c. Single admissions 35c, students 25c.

The program for the course is as follows:
1—The Smith-Spring-Holmer orchestral quintet.
2—Charles R. Taggart, musical humorist, the man from Vermont.
3—Clarence Locke Miller, lecturer.
4—The Weatherwax Brothers quartet, male quartet.
5—Gray Llevine, musical.

A great baseball game is booked for Sparta next Monday at the Fair ground, at 2:30 p. m., when the Nebraska Indian team will play a picked nine of the best local players that can be found. The Indians are noted ball players. They defeated St. Louis 1 to 0, it is said, and baseball authorities say they could put up a hard game with any of the big league teams. All Sparta fans ought to turn out for the game.

OLD PIONEER OF CLAYTON COUNTY IS CALLED AWAY

Woman Emigrant Goes Violently Insane on the Train at McGregor

M'GREGOR, Ia.—(Special.)—After an illness of several years John M. Little, aged eighty-five, one of Clayton county's best known pioneers, died at his home near Farmersburg and was buried yesterday from the local church. Mr. Little had lived on the same farm at Farmersburg for sixty-one years. He was born Feb. 7, 1831 in Vermont, the son of David Little. The family are descendants of Puritans who came to New England in 1640.

Emigrant Goes Insane
A woman emigrant on her way from Norway to Minnesota with her husband, a baby of three months and two children aged three and five years, became violently insane on the northbound train near McGregor at midnight last night. Conductor Libby notified a physician at McGregor and held the train here until the family could be taken in an automobile to the hospital. The woman was removed from the train screaming and struggling.

The man gives his name as George Halson and says they are from Namsos, Norway, and are going to his wife's sister at Sacred Heart, Minn. It is believed with a few days rest that the unfortunate woman will regain her reason.

Bring Body Back
The body of Mrs. Ed Dyan was brought from Sioux City to McGregor for burial yesterday. Her son, Shell Dyan, and a sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Parsons of Volga City accompanied the remains.

For many years Mrs. Ryan and her husband ran the Riverview hotel at McGregor and after his death for some time she managed it alone. A number of years ago she moved to

HOW TO JUDGE A WOMAN BY HER HAIR

There are always the well-known and semi-murderous methods, such as saying brunettes are quick-tempered. But there is real common sense in just noticing whether the hair is well kept to judge a woman's neatness. If you are one of the few who try to make the most of your hair, remember that it is not advisable to wash the hair with any cleanser made for all purposes, but always use some good preparation made expressly for shampooing. You can enjoy the very best by getting some canthrox from your druggist and dissolving a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water when your shampoo is all ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.

Grading Pike
E. E. Broadhead and a crew of men from Aurora, Iowa, are camped on the west edge of town engaged in making a several hundred yard fill on the North Iowa pike just west of the city limits. The pike is the most traveled road in the county. A mile of it between McGregor and the foot of the Giard Hill is being brought up to grade preparatory to graveling, which will be done next season it is expected.

Verse and Reverse
THE DREAMS AHEAD
What would we do in this world of ours?
Were it not for the dreams ahead?
For thorns are mixed with the blooming flowers
No matter where we tread.

And each of us has his golden goal,
Stretching far into the years;
And ever he climbs with a hopeful soul
With alternate smiles and tears.

That dream ahead is what holds him up
Through the storms of a ceaseless fight.
When his lips are pressed to the wormwood cup,
And clouds shut out the light.

To some it's a dream of high estate,
To some it's a dream of true with Fate
In a constant search for health.

To some it's a dream of home and wife;
To some it's a crown above;
The dreams ahead are what makes each life—
The dreams—end faith—and love.
—Edwin Carlisle Litsey.

Formerly the farm hand had to be able to milk the cows, but now that is not so important as ability to keep the automobile in repair.
